

Box 4072
Quesnel, BC
V2J 3J2

Canoeing
Kayaking

Trips 2004 and earlier

Home

Contacts

Newsletter

Events

[White Water
Festival](#)

Lessons

Trip Reports

Trip Schedule

Links

Membership Forms

Please allow this page a few moments to load (it is worth the wait)

These photos were submitted by Stephen and Carol: Note barrel placement

Photo Gallery

Yukon River

BC Rivers Day

Recipes

This photo was submitted by Ron Watteyne

This is the shuttle that was from Beavermouth to Quesnel Forks. Unfortunately the boat was overloaded ( 3 boats, 6 paddlers, gear and a driver) and we had to go with two boats per trip. The trip had to be shortened so we could accommodate all 6 boats and paddlers. This was a great section of the Quesnel that we'd never paddled before. Next year we are planning to get shuttled to Quesnel Forks by bus and then paddle down to Beavermouth.

The following selection of photos was submitted by Jim Crellin

Wolf Camp is about half way down the Wind river to the Peel. A large blond wolf came through our camp at dinner time.

Drying out was a sunny day after a really wet miserable day on the Wind. Makes you understand why we talk about a "mess"of paddlers ( sort of like a flock of birds)

Mayo Base is the flying in base for the Wind, Snake, Bonnet Plume, Mountain, Blackstone etc.

Above the Wind is at the same place as Drying Out, gives a good feeling of the size of the country and beauty of the Wind drainage.

Taco Bar is where you are picked up from either the Wind, Snake, or Bonnet Plume if you don't want to paddle all the way the Fort MacPherson on the Dempster

Robson in the mist is from a weekend club trip two years ago to paddle the upper Fraser around Robson.